Communications from the Superintendent

Dr. Prevuznak, on behalf of the Wilkes-Barre Area School District, presented a plaque to Mr. Robert Shinal recognizing his actions that resulted in the saving of three lives, two of whom were students in the Wilkes-Barre Area School District.
Dr. Prevuznak presented the following statement:

For several months the dialogue, the discourse, at these public Board meetings has been oriented towards the physical facilities and the options that are being considered for the construction of a new consolidated high school. Since May of 2014 much has been discussed and considered regarding that issue. But this evening I want to focus on and bring into perspective the total educational contributions that are made on a daily basis in helping our students achieve their academic, emotional, and physical needs. Some may question why I choose to speak at this time regarding these issues. Very candidly, commentary over the last few months have attempted to paint a picture of an unsuccessful curriculum that is not serving the needs of our students. Very honestly, it is offensive to me and the other hardworking educational professionals of this district who are working diligently to overcome the inheritance of outdated curricular programs that were implemented in the past. Many would point to fact that some of our schools are failing due to the lack of successful test scores. I am all for accountability from the perspective of students, teachers, and administrators. But the PSSA’s should not be the only gage for measuring student success and perhaps the recent elimination of No Child Left Behind will help establish that fact.

We have achieved academic growth in Keystone exams and early elementary literacy by utilizing a Keystone to Opportunity Grant (We are the only school district in the county to be awarded this grant) Our AP classes continue to offer students opportunities to achieve college credit and their scores are among the best in the state. Our STEM program created in 2013 offers state of art instruction for students who want to be challenged in a hands on math and science curriculum. STEM is also being examined for implementation into our elementary schools at this time. Our secondary schools are now working under the guidelines of a flex schedule that allows more opportunities for course selection and remediation for students who are finding difficulty with their studies. Regarding remediation our Title One program has been restructured in order to allow math and reading specialists the best possible scenarios in order to make the greatest positive impact on attaining reading skills for our younger students. From the perspective of addressing all of our student’s needs we offer additional programs through student services and our special education department. Counselors and school psychologists offer a huge array of services from placement testing to career counseling. Our FACES program tries to bridge the gap between community and the schools and the services we as a district can provide. Along the lines of community and family involvement we have also implemented the SHINE afterschool program in order to increase student achievement, improve student behavior and deter youth participation in gang related activity. But one of the most productive pursuits that this district implemented was the use of student data in order to better address deficiencies in student achievement. Data teams that are comprised of faculty and administrators at the building level meet regularly to discuss specific students and the need to achieve academic success. Administrators attend PIL classes in order to constantly be made aware of the changing trends in the educational field. They are expected to become instructional leaders of their respective schools and their school based data teams. All of these initiatives that I have just referenced are programs and offerings that are firmly rooted as researched based programs. And finally I want to identify the millions of dollars of scholarship money that was obtained because of our student’s academic prowess and high GPA’s. Last year 12 million dollars in scholarship money was awarded to our graduates with 75 % rate of placement into institutions of higher learning as well as trade schools. In essence, this district, despite having schools where 70% of their students are below poverty level and a student population transient in nature, is still providing a quality education for our students. And yes, we have a master plan, it’s the comprehensive plan required by the state and is available on our website. We follow it as required by the state as does every other district in this commonwealth. I can go on and on about district’s individual student accomplishments and the fact that the state assessment was changed this year by PDE and how all school districts were affected by the change of the test. Oh and by the way with the recent elimination of No Child Left Behind the elimination and the common core for this country, expect more change. Finally the majority of our students don’t share the dreams of PSSA glory. Their needs are simple. They want to be prepared to follow their own dreams into the expectation of a bright future. I point out that many who come to us, are hungry in the morning, seeking a nutritional breakfast to start their day that some simply have not received at home. We provide that with our free breakfast and lunch programs for all our students. In our estimation a well-rounded, quality education goes beyond test scores. We attempt to instill along with parents and guardians of our kids, a passion for the simple joy in learning. And how is that achieved? By simply accepting all of children with an unconditional love and an appreciation for their existence as individuals as unique children of God. I close this evening with the presenting the opportunity, the invitation for any of you who may have questions regarding curriculum or our programs to attend the open house after the holidays at the renovated Mackin School. At that time our directors, supervisors, and teachers will have stations established in an arena type atmosphere to address any questions you may have. These educational consultants that are currently employed by our district, with many years of experience in their chosen field of study, will be at your disposal.

Happy Holidays to one all.

New Business

Ms. Thomas presented the following statement to the Board:

Please be advised that this letter is to inform the Wilkes-Barre Area Board of Directors of my resignation as the Representative from Wilkes-Barre Area School District to the Board of the Osterhaut Library. Taking into consideration the District Internal Obligations and Committees I have been assigned, I believe it would be unfair to all affected for me to continue to sit on the Osterhaut Board.

Mr. Galella requested information in regard to the condition, and the possibility of future use of the Wilkes-Barre Twp. Building.

Information was provided by Gary Salijko, Apollo Project Manager and Attorney Wendolowski in regard to the current situation at the Wilkes-Barre Twp. Building as related to the insurance settlement and possible costs possibly not covered by the insurance settlement to renovate building for occupancy.

Miss Katsock noted that the District may wish to consider that currently the site being leased for the District warehouse may not be available for lease in the future.

Dr. Prevuznak brought to the attention of the Board that the Administration Building may also be in need of some major repairs in the very near future.

President Caffrey noted that the Board will be looking very closely at options, such as the Times Leader Building, in light of the issues that the Board is facing in regard to the Wilkes-Barre Twp. Facility and the Administration Building.

Mr. Quinn made the following motion due to the existing Budget Impasse at the Commonwealth Level.

Mr. Quinn moved, seconded by Ms. Thomas, to authorize the Business Office to do preliminary planning to acquire funds on a short term basis if needed. This short term borrowing will afford the School District a source of funds to continue paying reasonable and necessary operating costs should the existing Budget Impasse continue. The vote was as follows:

9 Ayes: Evans, Galella, Geiger, Katsock, Quinn, Susek, Thomas, Walker, Caffrey
Ms. Thomas inquired as to where the District was in the process regarding the Wilkes-Barre Area School District property appraisals.

Attorney Wendolowski informed Ms. Thomas that one set of appraisals was complete and the other would be complete by the end of the year.

Communications from Solicitor

Attorney Wendolowski requested the following motions:
