

This is the problem.	The problem is fixed.
Lined writing area for describing the problem.	Lined writing area for describing how the problem is fixed.

Directions: On the left, draw a picture and write about a problem a character has in a story. On the right, draw a picture and write about how the problem is fixed.

Beginning, Middle, End Chart

Story Title
Beginning
Middle
End

Directions: Write the title of the story in the box at the top of the page. In the other boxes, write important things that happen in the beginning, middle, and end of the story.

Story Title

First

Next

Then

Last

Reproducible Page © Zaner-Bloser, Inc.

Directions: Write the name of the story in the box at the top of the page. List story events in the correct sequence in the boxes below.